Document Public Comments:

Public Comment (Limited to Learning Plan)

- a. Introduction: AI presented the participation rates per week (over 90%), and he would recommend continuing
- b. Will Meurer: There is some anxiety among both parents and teachers that the current plan is somewhat vague, and it might be helpful to have a plan that includes what we can do to help at-risk learners now, and what we plan to do when we reach Phase 5. This would give parents and teachers more confidence. We also need to balance this by not planning too much for something that might not happen. There needs to be a discussion of how to help people at risk for the virus continue learning.
- c. Aubrey Patino: She seconds what Will shared. Her concern is the lack of clarity about when we will return to school. She looks at the case rates in schools, and the rates are very low. It concerns her that we may not go back in Phase 5. There are huge costs associated with catching kids up who are falling behind. She appreciates the complexity of the discussion and would love having clarity about returning in Phase 5.
- d. Barnaby Pung: Wants to clarify that the board re-approving the plan does not mean that we cannot do the work to prepare for returning to school.
- e. Abby: I agree with Aubrey and Will. We are as a family having a good experience this year at Honey Creek. We deserve as families and I think staff need and deserve more concrete plans—not a plan to make a plan.
- f. Mary Johnson: asked if the board will have a plan for returning to school in Phase 5. Nicole answered that we will have a plan up for vote by the board at next months' meeting.

g. Bridgette Carr: Asked if we should use something other than "Phase 5" for a return to school. Nicole agreed this was a good idea, to use the metrics instead of the Phase language.

h. Will Meuer: Suggested using "4 weeks of declining case counts" as a possible metric. He would also like the board to prioritize help for special needs.

i. Suzanne Hoffman seconded this idea that children with special needs require additional support.
