

The After School Programs of Honey Creek Community School present

Theatre Tech Crew

DESCRIPTION: Wanted: Masters of the Universe. We are looking for our next adventurous tech team. Students will transport our actors to the world of Mr. Fox by learning about what goes on and into the behind the scenes of putting on a theater performance and become our tech crew for the school play. Students will be divided into the main categories (sound/lighting, costumes, make-up, props, and publicity) that they will learn about and be asked to perform those duties during the rehearsals and performances. This season's show is VERY prop, costume, and makeup heavy, so students will need to be willing to explore all areas, be open minded on their assignments, and focused on the end result... the performance.

MEET THE INSTRUCTOR: Heidi Ellis has a masters degree from Eastern Michigan University in Costume Design and Construction where she helped teach the undergraduate students while helping to build the theater productions. She worked for 11 years at the Henry Ford as a supervisor in the costume shop where she trained the new employees and made clothing.

SNACK: We have found in the past that the students never save enough of their snacks, so this time around we will be providing a healthy snack. If there are dietary issues you must let us know. If a snack is sent from home, please know that we are and will be PEANUTS and TREE NUTS FREE. We already know of that deadly allergy.

WHEN: CLASSES on Tuesdays and Thursdays 3:15-4:15pm from February 4th- April 23. PERFORMANCE WEEK REHEARSAL times will vary on April 21 and 23. Crew should be prepared to stay until 6pm. PERFORMANCES are TENTATIVELY scheduled for Friday, April 24th with time TBA (hopefully at 4pm and 6pm). Tech crew should plan to stay afterwards to strike the set, and they will be fed in between shows.
